The quality and condition of the consignments were good, and a large proportion of the supply was hogs averaging upward of 200 j lbs. The small supply, favorable reports from other places, and all buyers in the field were the medium to heavy hogs, and best prices were paid in this department. In a general way sales represented a gain of fully 10c compared with Saturday morning. Cattle-The receipts of cattle to-day even for a Monday market were small and considerably below the average in this market for some time past. There were a few cattle carried over from last week which helped out the supply to some extent. Most of the trading was in the female butcher line, and transactions were usually quoted strong to a shade higher than the close of last week. In the steer department the small supply did not seem to effect the demand in any way, and the market remained steady. As usual at the beginning of the week there was only a fair demand for feeding cattle to-day, but sales for the most part represent steady prices compared with those prevailing at the close of and irregutar at a decline of 60@80 points under last week. 4.25 Sheep-The receipts of sheep and lambs were small to-day, but not surprising at this time in the week. There were not enough in any department to establish a range in prices or to show the true condition of the market for any particu lar kind. Therefore, the condition of other markets is used as a criterion of what might have been expected here. Advices from other places this morning are generally higher, and, therefore, it might be expected that good stock could have been sold at advanced prices here. Should the receipts continue small it is hardly expected 24d; American mixed, old, 4s 4d. that there will be any material change in values, but with enough to encourage competition between all buyers salesmen no doubt would expect higher prices. It is also observed that delining prices are not the rule at this time in the year. It is probably safe to say that the good ambs could be sold as high as $6 and sheep as high as $3.75. LIVE STOCK NOTES.

Several loads of hogs yesterday averaging 233 to 280 pounds, sold at $5.30, and loads of about the same average that included a greater or less number of roughs sold at $5.25. Hogs averaging around 190 pounds and upward that were more on less on the mixed order sold from $5 to $5.15.

+ + + The official receipts of stock last week show a decrease of 3.716 hogs and an increase of 6. cattle and 1,626 sheep compared with the precedcattle and 49 sheep compared with the corresponding week a year ago. There was apparently a little stronger tendency in the genera fat cattle market yesterday. Sheep and lambs were quotably steady and the hog market was active at higher prices.

+++ The top price for hogs yesterday was the highest price since the close of last month, 30c higher than the top in December and 90c higher than the low price at the close of November. The advance in hog prices since the beginning of last 17@24c; dairy, 13@18c. Eggs higher at 27%c, week has brought them up to a point that will case count. probably induce shippers to pay $5 in the country. In that event dealers are expecting a good increase in the receipts. Should the receipts become excessive at any time, or even above the normal supplies represented recently, the natural consequence would be a reaction in values. Therefore while the conditions yesterday may b considered favorable to seilers the advisability of paying $5 in the country just now is ques

+ + + Reports from other cattle markets yesterday cal cattle market is somewhat looked for the next few days. It seems to be generally believed unfavorable developments in certain departments last week will cause a shrinkage in receipts, and in that event the natural course would be higher. Recent experiences, however, have caused all dealers to be conservative in making predictions, and while the conditions yesterday no doubt favored higher prices, com mission men are inclined to instruct their customers to use due caution in making their se lections in the country. It should be remembered that for some time past the good cows and helf ers have been selling to better advantage than

It is protreme. The plan of mounting the locomotives involves supporting wheels carried by the locomotive drivers and turn with them; brakes mounted upon the shafts of the supporting wheels, and having sufficient capacity to absorb continuously the maximum power of the locomotive, and a traction dynamometer to indicate the pulling force of the locomotive. This dynamometer, which is being built by William Sellers & Co., of this city, is the most complicated and intricate part of the plant. In these tests which involve an amount of running equivalent, approximately to 100 miles, weighings are made of the fuel burned and the water evaporated; while the quality of the steam in the boiler, the smoke-box temperature and the loss of fuel in the form of sparks are all accurately determined. Speed and pressures are observed and recorded, and the power developed in the eylinders and the pull exerted at the drawbar are measured by the dynamometer. Twelve locomotives of various types will be provided for these tests. Of these three will be furnished by the Pennsylvania Railroad-two, a freight and a passenger engine, being built at the Altoona shops, while the railroads.

The most radical changes in the location of the main line are being made between Lawrenceburg Junction and Sunman. In this stretch of eighteen miles of track the line will occupy the present roadbed at but two points and for a distance of less than a mile. In these eighteen miles of old line there are seventy-three curves, twenty of which are of five degrees or more. The new line will have but sixteen curves, with a

Plans have been prepared by the chief engineer of the Pennsylvania for a passenger station to replace the present one at Cape May. It will be of buff brick and terracotta, and its cost will be $50,000. The February issue of the monthly bulletin will contain as its leading article an account of the fine building the Big Four Railroad Company has just opened to its men at Indianapolis as a department for the Y. The management of the Rock Island has adopted the standard code for the operation of trains. The standard code simplifies and greatly improves train operation and has been adopted by nearly every rallway in the United States. At a recent meeting in St. Louis it was agreed by all lines not to allow any line to announce an official route to any meetings or convention. This is done to stop the "grafters," who always demand several free round-trip tickets for the leaders. The first cheap round-trip rate to California, however, goes into effect May 5.
